EVENING JOURNAL
WILMINGTON, DELAWARE
D. 80,494

JAN 1 2 1976

Pollutants Found In Ohio River Fish

CINCINNATI (AP) — Commercial and game fishing on the Ohio River may be endangered by pollutants chlordane and PCB fond in catfish at all eight dams between Pittsburgh and southern Illinois.

"Frankly," said Leo Weaver, director of the Ohio River Valley Sanitation Commission, "this is discouraging. We thought we had made great progress in cleaning up the river since the various species of game fish were making a comeback."

MONS 032986