S F Agrees To Buy Cable Cars

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The California street cable cars may start clanging up and down the San Francisco hills again before the end of the year

The city agreed yesterday to buy the privately-owned line from the California Street Cable Railroad Co for $150 000 less preferred claims The actual amount would be in the neighborhood of $138 000

The agreement must be approved by the Public Utilities Commission the Board of Supervisors and Mayor Elmer E Robinson as well as by the company's creditors and a federal bankruptcy court

No opposition was expected from any of these bodies

No one was willing to hazard a guess as to when service would be resumed although it was expected the cable cars should be back on the streets before the new year The city must first buy and install four new cables
