leaving that behind, in both Grewe and Wood, the plaintiffs want to move now that there has been a close of all of the evidence by both sides for judgment as a matter of law on the evidence, so that as to preserve the basis for any post trial motions that the plaintiffs would make.

MR. IGNATOWSKI: That is correct, Your Honor. We would join in that request.

THE COURT: The ruling the Court made with reference to Ford's motion is applicable to that made by the plaintiffs.

It is clear that the issues generated by the evidence in the case must be resolved by the trier of fact, so accordingly, the Court will deny all motions for judgment on both sides.

I am not inclined to add those words, Mr. Hoffman. I think generically it covers the issues you want to cover, and I know that you and Ms. Hines will wax eloquent to the trier of fact, as will Mr. Williams and whoever is going to argue for Mr. Grewe.

I am going to let them make their
