DISPLAYS

The show, which will be open to the public April 7 through April 15 from noon to 10 p.m., will feature displays by Bay Area decorators and designers and furniture stores. Major furniture retailers will display model room settings featuring future treads and new uses of materials and colors.

Fabrics, wall papers, mirrors, lamps, pictures and bric-a-brac will also be included. An international carpet display will be on view, as will a dream "Kitchen of Tomorrow."

A highlight will be an exhibit planned by the Spring Opera Guild. It will be based on the Mozart opera "The Abduction from the Seraglio," which it will present for two nights, May 18 and 19, for the first time in San Francisco.
