3-Tab Hexagon Asphalt Shingles

with the Shape that Protects!

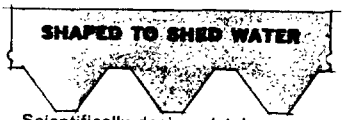
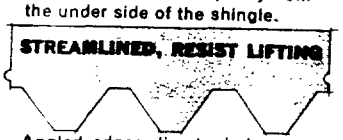
The tapered tabs that give these shingles their distinctive design provide added protection against wind, snow and rain. Because of their shape, they lie flat on existing roofing. And their rock granule surface offers exceptional fire resistance and carries the Class "C" fire resistance label of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.



Scientifically designed tabs provide natural watershed, away from the under side of the shingle.



Angled edges direct wind away from the tabs, offer no loose corners to lift. When winds blow, shingles stay flat.
