Dear Steve:

Enclosed for your information is a copy of the oral testimony the industry coalition, including CMA, presented to the California Proposition 65 Scientific Advisory Panel.

We proposed to the SAP that "only commercial PCB mixtures with an average molecular chlorine content of 60% or greater be added to the California Proposition 65 list of chemicals known to the state to be carcinogenic (in rodents).

Sincerely yours,

John H. Craddock, Ph.D.
Product & Environmental Safety Director
