down. That may be the reason the Chinese do things the other way around. Instead of waiting to call the doctor until taken sick, they pay him to call regularly and keep them well. In keeping houses sound, property-owners may well follow the cue of their yellow cousins. Call in a good painter at regular intervals to inspect your house.

You can tell a good painter by the class of people he works for, the

and there tomorrow" and uses high-grade materials exclusively, he may safely be relied upon to know his business and to be a conscientious workman.

Painters who care anything about their reputations mix their own paint by thinning the well-known Dutch Boy white-lead with absolutely pure linseed oil and then
