Dear Mr. Sargent:

Due to government regulations about the use of asbestos, we are concerned about the use of asbestos in equipment we purchase. As you are aware, there has been litigation by individuals in regard to exposure to asbestos.

We are considering inserting a clause in our equipment specifications forbidding the use of asbestos. We would appreciate a survey of your equipment so we can determine to what extent asbestos is used. The list should include all minor items, such as gaskets, thermocouples, wiring insulation, and valve packing, in addition to any large uses.

We would appreciate this information at your earliest convenience, and thank you for your assistance.

Very truly yours,

W. C. Williams
