Marshmallow Sponge Cake

3 egg yolks, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 egg whites, 1 cup flour, 1 level teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Beat egg yolks until very light, then gradually beat in the sugar and vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff and dry and fold into the yolks. Mix flour, baking powder and salt, and sift and fold gently into the egg mixture. Bake in a moderate oven in two layer cake pans. Put together with Marshmallow Filling between and on top.

Marshmallow Filling

½ cup water
1 cup sugar 2 egg whites
8 Campfire Marshmallows
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cut marshmallows in pieces and heat in double boiler. Put sugar and water in saucepan, stir until sugar is dissolved and boil without stirring until syrup spins a long thread when dropped from tip of spoon. Add very slowly to egg whites beaten until stiff, beating constantly. Add vanilla and marshmallow and beat until stiff enough to hold its shape. Decorate top with whole marshmallows.

A New Contribution to Cookery

Campfire Marshmallows now play an important role in every-day household cookery.

Because of the manner in which these soft, fluffy marshmallows lend themselves to the preparation of dainty, delicious food dishes, they are no longer thought of merely as a confection. They have become established as a staple food product in thousands of progressive homes.

Campfire Marshmallows, made only of pure, selected materials, possess a distinctive goodness they never lose in the Campfire carton. It has three wrappings and is carefully sealed. Thus, Campfire Marshmallows always reach you fresh and soft; and the white enameled interior keeps them wholesome and palatable.

You get a 6-ounce package when you buy Campfire—twice as much as when you buy other brands. Marshmallows in this form are most economical as they contain no added moisture to increase weight.

Ask your dealer for Campfire Marshmallows, specially prepared for use in cooking. Write to our Cookery Department for a copy of the Campfire Recipe Book. In it are many absolutely new recipes—all prepared and tested by Alice Bradley, Principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery, Boston.
