Relative to our group discussion of 9/26, I would like to reiterate Nylon Development's position in this matter. We will not recommend any further use of this compound until such time as St. Louis has sent us complete toxicity information and you are satisfied that process losses and possible exposure levels are within allowable limits. In general, we would also like to know why they have been reluctant to give us the information requested and specifically why the lower chlorinated A1232 is categorized as more toxic than "innocuous" A-1242.

We are anxious to complete our work in this area and would appreciate any sense of urgency you could impart to the Medical Dept. in St. Louis.
