ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Two federal regulatory agencies--the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA)--have established new rules and regulations for asbestos-in-buildings situations. For a free copy of the EPA's latest guidelines, call the agency's Asbestos Action Program, 202-382-3949. A free copy of OSHA's asbestos regulations can be obtained by calling your regional OSHA office. The number can be found under "U.S. Department of Labor" in most phone directories.

The Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA) regulations are administrated by the U.S. EPA. Additional information on AHERA can be obtained from the EPA's Asbestos Hot Line: 202-554-1404.

There are at least five journals which now cover asbestos abatement issues on a regular basis:
