Dear Dr. Kwon:

Thanks again for taking time out of your busy day last Thursday to review the technical aspects and scope of the talc studies which OSHA has assigned to the National Bureau of Standards.

This confirms our discussion where I explained that I am interested only in specifics relating to talcs or talc products in the NBS/OSHA study which originated either from my company or our affiliate Windsor Minerals.

Since you understandably have the identity of the talcs sealed up until the results of the NBS study are in your hands, you kindly offered to telephone me the answers to my questions on any of our talcs as soon as that information is available to you. The expectation is that the present phase of the study will be completed about March 1st and should be in your hands soon thereafter.

For convenience, I have attached another copy of a 2/7/77 letter which I sent to Mr. Concklin and left with you last Thursday and which details out the specific questions I have on the matter.

Very truly yours,

W. H. Ashton
