STEAM ACCOUNTING FLOW METER BOOKLET

POWER ENGINEERS today are assuming greater responsibility for the economical distribution and use of steam as well as steam generation. In order to track down steam waste and eliminate cost property, you must have a reliable record of steam consumption by function, by processing units, by departments or other logical divisions of your company operations.

Brown Totalizing Flow Meters produce a three-fold record essential to steam accounting: (1) rate of flow (2) units of flow (3) totalized flow units.

A new booklet on Brown Accounting Flow Meters and Systems has just been released. Write for your copy of Bulletin 2022 today.
