A I think they handled the stuff at the ports. I don't know. I guess it is the same thing.

Q I think you testified he got out of the military in 1946; is that right, in about 1946?

A Yes.

Q He started working at the post office in about 1948, do you recall that?

A No. I didn't say '48 he started working at the post office.

Q When did he start working, do you remember?

A Off and on. He was a substitute first. I would say about -- he worked there before he went -- I would say about maybe '45 or something like that. It couldn't have been '45, he was in the Army then.

I am not sure of the date, but I know he was working at the post office, too. I don't know the exact date. I don't want to tell you a lie.

Q Let me just ask you one final question, ma'am.

Do you remember if after he got out of the military, whenever that might have been, before he
