Dear Joe,

This is to confirm our conversation last week regarding medical records and other personnel data as may be required by the U. S. Government's Health and Safety Act. We intend to continue to provide any and all personal protective equipment; and all tools, facilities, and equipment that will help provide safe conditions under which your employees work.

As we discussed, your company's primary obligations under our contract, with reference to the safety and health of your employees, are as follows:

1) Maintain all medical records.
2) Perform any medical related testing of employees.
3) Inform Monsanto of any additional, or alternate personal protective equipment, or facilities needed to insure a safe and healthful environment in which your employees work.

Sincerely,

R. E. Belden
