(Suppliers of GMCI Raw Materials)

Gentlemen:

We are all aware of the concern over the persistence of polychlorinated biphenols and its possible ecological effects. This has been emphasized in the press recently.

Since General Mills is most commonly thought of as a food company, pressures have been great to provide assurance that our products do not contain PCB's.

Although General Mills Chemicals, Inc., a subsidiary company, does not produce food products at its Kankakee, Illinois location, some of our products may find use in such items as printing inks on food packaging etc. Therefore, we ask that you sign the simple statement below and return it to our office, attesting that the materials listed below and purchased from you do not contain PCB's. Your prompt attention and return will be greatly appreciated.
