its contents, you can acquire from these pages the knowledge required for you to make the proper selection of the optimum insulation materials for any job assigned you and to use the proper method of application to achieve a good quality and presentable job.