I talked to Chem-Trol's marketing manager, Dave Hartley, on February 16.

Chem-Trol are still accepting PCB for landfill at Model City and Earthline, Ill. Their incinerator at Model City is shut down.

They expect St. Lawrence cement to get PCB permits in next 3-4 weeks and will then be able to start working with St. Louis on incineration again.

They have an incinerator in Bay City, Michigan which is not suitable for PCB today, but which they may upgrade in 1979. That operation is Hartley and Hartley.

They have bought an old IMC plant at Newark, N.J. for treatment and separation of liquid wastes.
