of Ford stock?

A That was my investment in the corporate investment program, yes.

Q In terms of some of the qualifications and things that you talked about earlier, am I correct that you have also presented a paper to the FMSI?

A I have given presentations to Friction Materials Standards Institute, yes.

Q Can you tell the ladies and gentlemen of the jury what the Friction Materials Standards Institute is?

A Basically we talked just briefly a short time ago about the after-market brake linings.

The Friction Materials Standards Institute is a group or collection of manufacturers of basically after-market brake parts, brake linings and brake drums and rotors and miscellaneous repair parts.

And the Friction Materials Standards Institute has as a portion of its job to categorize brakes and clutches by size, shape, et cetera, so it is a common size and common designation for each brake