MEMO TO George Levinskas 12/18/82

Nothing in here changes the picture of PCBs and human health effects. The later draft of Brown's NIOSH paper is essentially the same as the early one. ✓

Cammarano et al. had a group with mixed exposure and an improbably low overall mortality. Gustavson et al found no positive results. Neither did Lanton et al. Emmett found assorted and varied correlations with various biochemical measurements but no health effects. I think we can ignore the melanoma issue because the paper was withdrawn.
