As a conclusion to my memo of April 7, regarding two leaking Pryanol A13B3B-3 drums at Monsanto's Santa Clara, California location, I have received the following information from Dick Westbrook. The one "missing" Pyranol drum from the above shipment was located at Consolidated Freightways Salt Lake City terminal. That drum had been removed at Salt Lake due to leakage, and the remaining drums were transferred to another trailer for shipment to Santa Clara.

Dick worked with Roy Fleshman at Consolidated, St. Louis, and Don Lemmons Claims Prevention Supervisor at Consolidated, Salt Lake City, (phone 801-487-6492) passing on information for trailer clean-up, etc. Consolidated at Salt Lake will transfer the remaining Pyranol to a new drum, and return both the leaker and the new drum, along with any contaminated solids from the clean-up operation, to Sauget for our disposal.
