IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

wealth of sweetest of last year—
Chapin,
Eli Emery
Tibbett,
used for
most place
ornia, Mr.
bride, who
and talent
of white
rings and bridesmaids,
gift of lace
had a soft large hats
a shawl beautiful
which re-
m it was
M. Hurd,
n and Dr.
D., hath ose mistake-
is of the though was ench was
are a most
from white stely over
n of honor,
bride of a
in her own
white satin
ddin, trimmed
and Edna harming in silk, with rried great
ochet roses,
Thomas
of Dr. and
ting-bearer,
than any-ite with big shaded with delight and
on.
the altar,
Pasadena,
M. Gordon,
ent as the
and solemn march rang
g the cere-
was mar-
orchestra,
music was

Informal be-tube and self consist-ite tulle, in embroidered
pillars sup-
toned with in tulle, an bouquets of with lovely
ined together
ent ending in ons, a Tyrol-
strung with roses, filled
ded to the Eights were
and bows of
ent the room.
roses pink
nged in pots.
was heartily Brahms favor-
a soft flow-
tulle.
particularly ried out. On with very-
day, popular silver cand-
and green consequence
were married

from the corners of the room to the chandeliers, which were shaded with pink, and about the rooms were arranged great bouquets and festoons of regal Maman Cochet roses, and intermingled with their sweetness was the dainty green of the asparagus plumosus fern.

The groom's gift to the best man was a handsome pearl pin, and to each of the ushers and attendants a silver double heart brooch. The groom's gift to the fair and dainty bride was a beautiful watch and chain, set in pearls.

After the wedding a reception was held when congratulations were extended, and refreshments were served by Christopher. Mrs. Chapin, the mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of lavender grenadine, with touches of violet velvet about it.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts from their loving friends. Mr. Tibbett received from his hunting friends a handsome gun draped in crape, as a sign that this venture into matrimony would surely end his hunting days. There were other things, too many to mention, and after a brief wedding journey this popular young couple will settle in Los Angeles, in the dear little home which the groom has prepared for his bride.

Seventh Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Menzies of No. 1211 South Burlington avenue entertained last evening in honor of their seventh wedding anniversary, and the completion of their beautiful new home. The lower part of the house was decorated with the yellow mustard as typical of the glowing bride of sunny California. Behind a screen of peppers on the stair landing a band of musicians was stationed who discoursed sweet music. Baskets of sweet peas were arranged above stairs in graceful profusion, suggestive of the floral decorations at the wedding seven years ago.

Guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. George Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Cline of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pinkham, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Terrington, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Grove Kirchner, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McPherson of Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harris, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Nye, Mr. and Mrs. George Fitzhugh, Mrs. McClintock, Miss Mary Mauzer, Misses Mabel Fitzgerald, Anna Walker, Vera Holden, Anna Walker, Delia Butterworth, Louise, Thresher, Gertrude McCaffery, Bertha Walker, Ruth Bonbyshell, Clara Bonbyshell, Anna Leland, Louise Bonbyshell and Hurd; Messrs. Felix McClintock, Will Walker, Lee Gibson, Frank Lathrop, Barrington, Alexander Ingraham, W. Taylor, Tom Fox, Ed Butterworth, George Butler, George Birch, Frank Palmer, O. W. Menzies of Oxnard, Northrop, H. Swain, Fred Nash, Ed Garrison, Ira Le Tour and Malone, Joyce and Amos Barr of San Francisco.

Cashion-Caldwell.

Tuesday evening at Epworth Methodist Church took place the nuptials of Miss Ethel Dell Cashion and Frank E. Caldwell, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Barber. The bride was attended by her little sister, Miss Edna, and the groom by his brother-in-law, D. W. Chamberlain, while little Fleur ence Goodall was flower girl, Perry Goodall was the ring bearer. The bride's gown was of cream crepe with lace and pearl ornaments. The bridesmaid were a dainty white Swiss gown with lace and pink ribbon trimmings. The flower girl's dress was of white Swiss with blue trimmings. The church was decorated with pink and white, and behind the altar was an arrangement of white roses with a sprinkling of ferns and twining ivy. The pink flowers were arranged in baskets about the church and a touch of lavender was added by a few choice flowers in fancy baskets. The couple stood under a canopy formed of ribbon and just over their heads was a true lover's knot. Miss Pernilla Butterfield presided at the organ and rendered the wedding march from Lohengrin, and also that from Mendelssohn.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. H. L. Goodall, No. 811 Alpine street, where numerous friends had relatives gathered for congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell will be at home to their friends after June 15 at No. 948 East Forty-ninth street.

Wedding at St. Stephen's.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a pretty wedding was celebrated in the quaint little St. Stephen's Church at Hollywood, when Miss Helen Louise Bailey became the bride of Bayard Smith Caldwell, the ceremony being performed by the father of the groom, Rev. L. H. Caldwell. Miss Bailey is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Prescott Bailey of Hollywood. She is a resident of Hollywood, but previously lived in Los Angeles and has a wide circle of friends in this city. The pretty little church presented a dainty appearance in its modest trimming of white marguerites and roses. The church itself is in dark green, and against this as a background were arranged great clusters of white marguerites at the altar, and the couple stood in front of a bank of white roses. On either side of the altar were high vases of marguerites and Madonna lily were clusters of the modest yellow-eyed blooms, tied with white tulle. The pretty blonde bride wore a gown of lace gleaming, made with shirring, and a charming hat to match. She carried a white prayer book, and was attended by her sister, Miss Charlotte Bailey in a becoming creation of champagne-colored gleaming, and a large picture hat with yellow roses. She carried a cluster of yellow roses. These pretty girls in dainty gowns and picture hats ushered in the guests. They were Misses Marie Havenon, Louise MacFarland and Mae Fréelies. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for San Francisco, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Bailey has been the recipient of much pleasant social attention, and she and her husband received many beautiful gifts.

Events to Come.

Mrs. Stephen W. Dorsey of No. 1306 South Figueroa street is planning a luncheon to be given on next Wednesday in honor of Mrs. J. P. Jones of Santa Monica. On the evening of the same day Mrs. Henry T. Oxnard of No. 1311 Figueroa street will give a large dinner party.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Walter J. Wren of Burnham street will entertain members of the La Paloma Club.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Katherine Stearns of St. James Park will entertain with a children's party for her little friends.

Sweet Pea Luncheon.

Mrs. Julius S. Morris of No. 1314 South Grand avenue gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of her mother, Mrs. E. Heinsohn and her sister, Mrs. H. M. Wallenstein, who are here on a visit from San Francisco. The table centerpiece was of red and white sweet peas and places were marked with the delicate flowers, while about the room the flowers were massed in artistic profusion.

Home from College.

Among those who have reached home for the summer vacation from the southern colleges are the Misses Lois Nauer, Pearl Erkenbrecher and George McLain, from Stanford, and Albert Salisbury of Berkeley. On Friday Miss Ruby Minthe, the pretty little blonde, who took a prominent part in the junior farce at Stanford, will arrive in town to spend the vacation with her mother, Mrs. P. Minthe of No. 1128 South Flower street.

Miss Lorrie Mae Dixon has arrived from Berkeley and is at home to her friends at No. 1071 West Twenty-third street.

For Miss Schwab.

A party was given Tuesday evening at the Hotel Vendome in honor of Miss Hattie Schwab, who left yesterday for her home in Pennsylvania. It was in the form of a farewell surprise, and games and music were features of the evening, while later refreshments were served. The affair was given by members of the United Presbyterian Church, and among the guests were Rev. and Mrs. Wallace of San Diego, who are here for the conference.

Bon Party.

Miss Evangeline Cope gave a bon party yesterday afternoon at the Orpheum in honor of one of the most charming of June brides, Miss Teresa Smith, who is soon to wed Fred Maier. After the show the guests were served with refreshments at Christopher's and the large round table was exquisite with d[illegible] ed with [illegible] marked [illegible] ing at [illegible] roses. [illegible] Smith, Elsie Peck, Miss Frances Cope, Miss May Wiley, Miss Belle Wiley and Miss Grace Newton.

For Mrs. Hey.

Mrs. T. H. Dudley of Santa Monica entertained yesterday at tea in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. Erwin Hey, who leaves this week for the East.

Driving Club Matinee.

The Driving Club matinée on Saturday afternoon promises a charming array of society folk. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Norton have taken a box for the occasion, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baldwin have also a box. Mrs. and Mrs. John T. Jones will entertain a party.

Informal Affair.

Miss Elsie Cook of San Francisco was guest of honor at a delightful affair given on Tuesday evening by Miss Maude Moser of West Twenty-third street.

An eastbound Burlington train was wrecked three miles east of Moorcroft, Wyo., by the spreading of rails, and George Carpenter of Cody was killed. A number of delegates on their way to the State convention at Laramie were injured, but not seriously.

A Big Special Sale.

Cohn & Cooper have succeeded the Miller Cloak and Suit Company, 332 South Broadway, by way of introduction, the latter of this city, the new firm is holding a great inaugural special sale. Only the newest styles are shown.

Two Days at Hotel Del Monte.

[illegible] between San Francisco and Los Angeles, stopped [illegible] two days' [illegible] at Hotel Del Monte. [illegible] Friday [illegible] Mr. Chilton, little Phyllis [illegible] Mr. Chilton, little [illegible] Mr. Chilton, little [illegible] Mr. Chilton, little [illegible] Los Angeles Times [illegible]

SAM GRANT'S SURPRISE PARTY.

GUEST PRESENTS HIM WITH A WELT IN THE FACE.

Officer Parker Armed With a Freshly Baked Cherry Pie Quells an Incipient Riot in First Street. E. C. Morris and a Friend Booked for Disturbing the Peace.

About a quart of gore was tapped from the physiognomy of Sam Grant, a well-known Elk, during a wild street fight in front of Grant's saloon on First street yesterday.

With a home-made cherry pie in one hand, Officer Parker dashed off a street car and attested the whole bunch as they were scurrying like death for cover. The attempt of bonfeldom in "repart" the thing with the police became amusing and made Parker so angry that he nearly hit a man with his precious cherry pie.

The trouble was that a man named E. C. Morris came into Grant's saloon very drunk and very dignified and imagined that he was insulted. He asked Grant, who was standing near the bar, to go somewhere with him, and when Grant declined, the man hit him, a mighty well in the face.

[illegible] two seconds they burst through the swinging doors of the saloon, [illegible] the two wild cats, and fell or was knocked down and his head against the curb which [illegible] the blood gush down his face in a stream. Scrambling to his feet like a demon and with ranting for Morris, but when he saw the police coming he turned about and entered the saloon with red eyes.

When Officer Parker got Morris under arrest, he placed him in charge of a little man in the crowd who in height came about up to the big man's waist line. No sooner had Parker disappeared in the saloon after Grant, than a half-tipsy man came up and started to dine Morris away, the little man holding wildly to the fellow's coat tails.

Parker came to the rescue and the friend tried to persuade him to let the man go.

Mr. Morris, however, did not want to go. He was beginning to feel hurt and wrong with all the sentiments of half-drunken rumorous. He dashed blindly into the saloon and had out his hand to bleeding Grant, beseeching for forgiveness. Grant was holding off the gore and had worn the towel long enough to let out a blood-curdling stream of oaths before which Morris retired, very much hurt.

They were booked at the station for disturbing the peace. Grant gave bail.

That Quarrel.

"I see that the quarrel between the Puritans and Brainiacs concerned a strip of rubber territory."

"Couldn't one side or the other secure a patent?"

"No. It's over the boundaries, you see. Just as soon as they struck the debatable ground one bounded one way and the other bounded the other."

"I suppose it will be a protracted campaign?"

"Yes, and so quiet a lot of the unfortunate combatants will be crossed."

"No doubt. But how will they decide the question at issue?"

"That's the rub."

"The point lies in the rubber."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GHIRARD

The children who are drin GROUND CHOCOLATE
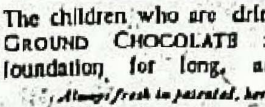
foundation for long, a
Always fresh in parcels, her



GROUND CH

No matter
want to pai
store, barn—ei
or inside, or t
and one little thi
home, we have expressly for the
will do the wor
at less cost than
you can use.

The secret of success i the right paint for each p Sherwin-Williams Paints are purpose and with a full ande of that purpose. They are of them—you cannot buy pa better results or greater econ
Let us figure on your pa

THE SHERWIN-
PAINT AND VARN