Unless it slipped by me, you and Hill still owe me an answer to the question:

> "What is the minimum specification for chlorinated biphenyl in Aroclor 5460 which we can live with in existing equipment and with routine operation of same?"

I meant to discuss this on my last visit, but didn't get to it.

Also, did you ever publish a report on the PNP capacity study? If you did, I can't find it. I need this in order to get a decision on "where to go" from Carder and his Business Group.
