EVERETT, Wash., April 1 (UP)—Interior Secy. Oscar L. Chapman says 60,000 acres a year will be opened up in the United States starting in 1952.

times at the rate of 20,000 a month. Sometimes the "invasion" has dropped to from 10,000 to 15,000. Nevertheless the influx has been steady, he pointed out.

The census boss said he believed the cities of San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco all would show a greater population than has been predicted for them.

He said that, from pre-census studies, it appeared also that the percentage of low-income families in California would show a marked increase over 1940, due partly to the unemployment factor and partly from the fact that migration to the Far West was primarily by people who were in their original surroundings.

subject to the Americans during the defense conference here. The Canadians felt they were not getting enough information on technical advances because of a roadblock between the Pentagon in Washington and London.

Informants said it was agreed that the U. S. and Canada will exchange information directly and not through London.
