asbestos and hazards in what you have called secondary users?

Not those people in the manufacturing plants, but in the end user situation.

A Yes. There were a number of articles in the literature that dealt with asbestosis and secondary users.

This is just one article published in 1934.

Q This is an article entitled, Pulmonary Asbestosis by Drs. Wood and Gloyne?

A Yes. They reviewed a number of cases. Here it says 100 cases. It was a case review, but it was a large case review.

Q Now, did Wood and Gloyne discuss what you have referred to as secondary users?

A Yes.

Q And what type of secondary users were they talking about?

Were they talking about actual insulators, or what type of people were they talking about?

A Well, in this particular paragraph it talks
