Have Secondary Consideration

This statement of the President's attitude was regarded by politicians as confirming previous indications that while he will have something to say about the league court, in at least one of his speeches en route to Alaska and return, he will carefully give it secondary importance among the topics of discussion. The the case on such an issue as joining an international tribunal.

Not a G.O.P. Issue

It was pointed out today by Senator Moses that the court proposal is not a republican issue at all, inasmuch as the party has never expressed itself on the question. The fact that President Harding, Secretaries Hughes and Hoover and a few other republicans are supporting it does not bind the party to its support, he added.

In view of the administration's insistence that the court is not a part of the league and Secretary of State Hughes' own proposed reservation declaring that in joining the court the United States becomes in no way involved in the league, discussion of reservations planned by the opponents would be highly embarrassing unless the administration were ready to accept at least two of them.

Must Explain Reservation

Senator Lodge's intention to offer a reservation designed to provide for the future election of judges of the court by the nations participating in the tribunal independently of the league, which now makes the selections, would require some clever explaining, if it were objected to under the circumstances.

Likewise, the opposition cannot see how the administration can well resist the contemplated reservation to equalize the voting strength of Great Britain and the United States in the election of judges. The same six-to-one advantage that Great Britain now would have in the case of the court formed one of the

She chanced to look away to see if her husband was on the bus which was approaching, and in that brief interval some agile thief snatched her suitcase. Mrs. Story stated afterward that she must have been the picture of surprise when she reached for her grip and found it missing. However, she went directly to police headquarters and reported the loss. Next morning the Vallejo police department had recovered the suitcase with contents intact, as well as taking the purloiner into custody. Mr. and Mrs. Story are very grateful to the local police department for their prompt and efficient work.

Increase the Salability of your Home—

THERE'S no doubt about it, paint will help sell or rent any house. There's something attractive about fresh paint, just as there is about a new suit of clothes or a brand new car. The increased selling price, also, yields a profit on the painting job.

Most householders keep their homes painted because they take pride in their appearance, and a well-painted house will always sell more readily. Fuller's Products—Pioneer White Lead, Concreta, Fuller's Pure Prepared Paint and Phoenix Pure Paint, Silkenwhite Enamel, Fuller Cement Floor Paint, Porch and Step Paint, "Fullerwear" and "'r5' for Floors" Varnish, etc.—have proved their worth.

Whatever your painting need, W. P. Fuller & Co. makes a paint for the purpose. Fuller products are of consistently high quality. They are unexcelled for ornamental and protective value. The Fuller reputation—74 years old—is your guarantee. Write, today, to our Service Department. Ask also for our "Home Service" booklet—it is free. For large painting jobs, a master painter should be employed.
