Art:

I am appointing you responsible for obtaining monthly statistics on any Aroclor imports into the U.S. This information should be reported to me in your regular monthly report. Any such information developed will be conveyed to Cunningham and our people in Washington to be checked into further. The attached correspondence from Corey and Stapleton is self-explanatory.

It will be Marketing's responsibility to bring to your attention the names of any customers who claim to have imported this material.

NOTE TO AJK ONLY
I know from past experience that Matt McCauley has had a lot of involvement in this area and you might want to give him a call to seek his guidance. One of the problem areas in this information gathering I believe is the fact that there are numerous import ports and there are many time lags between the time it comes in and the time it gets reported. Perhaps there is a way you can get to the key import areas and obtain the data more near to the time the material actually arrives in the U.S. VonMorris and Easley may also be of help in this regard.
