Lost Plane Search

Missing Quincy Flier's Craft Once Believed Sighted.

QUINCY, May 4. (AP)—Search parties combed the Plumas national forest in vain today for the missing plane in which Marshall Shinn disappeared Tuesday.

Overcast weather prevented planes from aiding in the hunt today but, yesterday, fliers sighted what they were certain was the missing monoplane. They spotted it in heavily-timbered country about 6 miles from Pulga, not far from the Feather river highway.

The small monoplane belongs to Dr. John W. Moore of Quincy. Shinn, 30-year-old Quincy trucking operator, borrowed the plane while Dr. Moore was on a fishing trip.

KEY TO TROUBLE

By John E. Dowdle

I mislaid my keys the other day and for a time I was greatly perturbed. There were my car keys and my door keys and the key to my private drawer and a number of others, each representing some possession that I felt I had to lock away from the rest of the world.

It struck me that keys are the penalty of civilization. No of the archdiocesan men's council and local district leaders.

John J. Hayes, president of the Catholic Action activity in this district, will preside at the local gathering. Joseph J. Polverino, president of the Italian Catholic Federation branch at Holy Family, will deliver the address of welcome and introduce the evening's chairman. Sacred and patriotic music is being arranged.

Religious solemnities marking the event will take place Sunday, May 11, with the entire parish and all societies participating at mass and communion.

Mexico Refuses Quake Relief

MEXICO CITY, May 4. (AP)—Foreigners were mystified today at reports Mexico would not accept a proposed $200,000 fund from the United States for relief of earthquake victims, but Mexicans said it was only an expression of Latin temperament.

Mexico, it was learned authoritatively, had passed along the word that it did not want the gift. Reasons given were that it was able to provide necessary relief and reconstruction, and that damage was not as heavy as first reported.

But the chief reason, one informed source said, was that its pride would not permit it to accept such a gift because people would say "the United States government is supporting the Mexican government."

In official Mexican circles there was only silence.
