MR. McGOWAN: Objection.

MR. DOUB: Now, why are they suing W.R. Grace?

THE COURT: Overruled. The jury has been advised this is opening statement, and nothing that counsel says is evidence in the case.

MR. McGOWAN: Thank you.

MR. DOUB: Why are they suing W.R. Grace? They want W.R. Grace to pay money to them. They are suing W.R. Grace for money. They want a judgment for money against W.R. Grace.

They are not trying to ask W.R. Grace to pay money to Mrs. Vandergucht, but to them.

In other words, what they are saying is that, if we have to pay for Mrs. Vandergucht's harm, if we, Owens-Illinois and OCF, have to pay Mrs. Vandergucht money, then W.R. Grace should pay us some money.

Now, what is the basis of the lawsuit by those two corporations against W.R. Grace?

MS. TOSTANOSKI: Objection, Your Honor.
