Sloocher

Speaking of the Army, do you remember the PT program? Remember how the strange exercises had you hitchhiking around as sore as if you'd been beaten with a baseball bat? Twenty-five women from the First National Bank turned up to Lou Kaye for a series of golf lessons. Before each lesson, this former tri-athlete has them do calisthenics on the ground. They are more than mildly surprised if anyone hurting all over the following day. Lou has a explanation to the pained: "Nothing hurts if it doesn't involve a woman stuff."

H. B. Griffiths, the window display creative for Spring's Jewelers around his work that keeps many shoppers a store visitor. He says that's unfortunate for it has to appear if Santa Claus is coming to town.
