Dear Otis:

Enclosed please find such data as we have available regarding specific gravity and shell strength for eggs. I would appreciate its return as we are currently undertaking two reproduction studies and possibly would have need for this information.

The J7300 30-day chick viability was previously furnished. I trust the lymphomatosis pathology description will be forthcoming.

In the interest of haste, I am enclosing some hand copied data on J8746 parental pathology. No chick pathology was recorded, so I assume the statement on P. 33 stating that there were no F1 pathological tissue alterations is valid.

I hope this proves of some value to you.

Regards,
