ASBESTOS CONTAINING MATERIAL IN USED EQUIPMENT

A statement similar to the below two paragraphs should be included in all Demolition contracts to inform the contractors of the likelihood of asbestos containing material being present in some contractor retained demolition material.

"Certain components of contractor retained demolition material may contain asbestos. Common examples, but not limited to these examples, are gaskets on used valves, vessels, heat exchangers, etc. and packing in valves, pumps, mechanical equipment, etc.

PURCHASER agrees to assume all liabilities occurred as a result of not following federal and state laws, rules, regulations, etc. in the use and disposal of this material."
