You wouldn't think, to look at these elephants quietly grazing between shows in the "jungles" of Fruitvale Avenue, that they participate in a "ballet" during the Cole Brothers Combined Circus, now in town. The circus will be here three more days.—Tribune photo.

Circus Holds Up Its Standard Of Entertainment, War or No

By WOOD SOANES

Blood, sweat and tears may be the order of the day for many Americans at home and abroad, but one major American institution continues to flourish in the face of axis threats—the three-ring circus that is as much a part of American life as political cususes, doughnuts and coffee, freedom of the press and peanuts for the elephants.

Traveling in war days may be a little tough on the big shows but Cole Brothers Circus set up shop without much difficulty at the Fruitvale grounds last evening and will continue to hold forth with two performances daily until Sunday evening inclusive, and there has been no trimming of the show.

As a matter of fact this season's show has more to offer than many of its predecessors. For beauty and talent it has Jean Allen, as much at home training seals and elephants as riding trick horses; for guffaws it has Otto Griebling, one of Amer*ica's funniest* exponents of pantomime; for thrills the Anteleks and the Flying Thrillers; for excitement the Smith and Nelson Liberty horses; The riding Hanneford*s* for class, and for amazement the dancing elephants.

TOPLINE ACTS

It seems to me that there were about twenty-six top-line acts on the program, in addition to the frequent hippodrome displays of clowns and riders one loses track after a while. The show got under way with the customary spec, this time "The Conquest of Coronado," a colorful pageant including both dancing girls and horses with Florence Tennyson as chief thrush.

The Patterson Troupe, a trampoline act, started the circus proper with two youngsters doing specialties in imitation of their elders. The Great Latinos provided the first set of thrills with a tight wire act in which the man worked at one time with baskets for shoes and later did a foot to foot jump through a paper hoop. Later on in the evening he was "The Great Webber, doing a slide for life down a tight rope from the top of the tent.

"The Ballet of Elephants" in seventh place took applause honors for the early part of the show. This act is not new but it has been developed into a remarkable exhibition of skill, speed and a sort of elephantine grace. The Misses Helen Scott, Jean Allen and Marion Knowlton provided the feminine touch. In a few minutes that famous riding family, the Hannefords, was in possession of the center ring with Poodles Hanneford, sufficiently recovered from his recent accident to work.

FINE HORSES

Hanneford is still having troubles with his trousers as well as his horses and he was in fine fettle last evening. Speaking of horses the Cole Show has a nice array this season in the troupes of Paul Nelson and Captain John Smith and Senon Bonin provided a special thrill on the hippodrome doing a Roman stand at the south end of a sixteen-horse hitch.

New to this part of the country are The Great Antaleks, perch balancers who manage to do incredible things. The two men work with three women aides and a slender pole and they won immediate attention last night. More thrills were provided by the Flying Thrillers who got off to a slow start in a high flying act and then wound up in a blaze of acrobatic glory.

They needed a girl catcher and in the absence of Eileen Harriott, who is on the injured list, one of the men did the double-twisting somersault to a mid-air catch while blindfolded. Speaking of acrobatic women, there is, midway in the bill, a Marilyn Rich who has replaced Cyse Odell on the one-arm grind and managed to give out with 107 twists in something approaching the old Lillian Leitzel manner.

LIGHTNING SPEED

These were the standouts in a bill that went along with lightning speed and had everything from barrel balancers to jumping horses, from boxing horses to boxing clowns. The show is carrying a fairly comprehensive animal tent, a diversified side show handled by Arthur Hoffman, and is giving an additional thrill or two in the concert where Hank Linton, a movie roper announced as an associate of Pawnee Bill, does his stuff.

There was even a touch of wrestling to the afterpiece with the circus troupe finally winning the joust from a local light. It was, in short, a very large evening.

Denton, Szabo Clash Tonight

The Dean Denton-Sandor Szabo mat clash at the Auditorium tonight looms up as a scientific bout in which speed and spectacular wrestling should decide the outcome.

Both contestants are on the comeback trail for another shot at the world's heavyweight title.

Denton has probably as wide an assortment of holds as anyone in the game but the toehold and airplane spin are his best bets.

A master of all types of locks and holds is with his giant swing that has proved successful.

Trails ajiently are assured in this one hour, two-fall match which tops a four-bout supporting card featuring Hans Schnabel vs. Joe Campbell, Abe Kachey vs. Jim Casey and Otto Schnabel vs. Harry Kent.

Valin Faces Trial On Battery Charge

You've heard this song before, the refrain is familiar.

Domingo Valin, boxer, noted as the "wayward son of Hayward" is in court again for alleged use of his fists.

Before Police Judge Joseph Kennedy today he pleaded not guilty to a charge of battery brought by Elwood J. Mee of 1521 Madison Street.

Mee's story alleges that in a tavern the evening of September 14, he and Valin began arguing about a previous argument they had engaged in. Valin went professional on him and used his fists in place of words, according to the complainant.

The case was continued until October 6 for trial.

Asthma Mucus Loosened While You Sleep
Say Thousands of Sufferers
Choking, gasping, wheezing, recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma ruin your sleep and rob your blood of vitally important oxygen because you can't get air in and out of your lungs properly. But now it is no longer necessary to suffer from these terrible attacks without the benefit you may receive from a physician's prescription called Mendaco. Within a very short time after the first dose, Mendaco ingredients start circulating thru the blood, thus reaching the smallest as well as the largest Bronchial tubes where they usually quickly help liquefy mucus and remove thick strangling
