Dear Sir:

I am a student at Sacramento State College. I am presently involved in a Wildlife Management class and have been assigned a project on PCB. I am interested in the importance of PCB in industry, in your company, and in any production changes you have made due to the recent health hazards attributed to PCB. I am also interested in how PCB is getting into the environment and if there are any satisfactory substitutes for it. Any information on the subject will be appreciated.

Yours truly,

David Fausel
