ut different tastes

E one hundred miles in any direction from the East Bay : and you will find a different taste in the water from well you sample. The owners of these wells will tell at the water is good! It undoubtedly is, too, only you rown accustomed to water of still another taste.

here near home, you will find a different taste in the from each one of the several groups of wells the Com- now using. The water from the reservoirs has still an- taste, and warm weather makes the differences even oticeable.

-town guests may question the quality of the water you ved because they are not used to the taste. But the fact you may well be proud of the purity of your local water

Laboratory tests made of the samples taken daily from irs, mains and faucets in different parts of the territory show that the purity of the water is constantly main- . The excellent health record of the East Bay dis- further proof of that.

HENCE the suggestion: Accept the different taste in the water you are served just as you accept a new brand of tea.

The Armored Door

LET come what may—the driving attack of rain, the siege of the summer sun! It will have no effect on the door protected by the water-proof film of BASS-HUETER Versatile Spar Varnish.

For best results, more than one coat of this extremely durable varnish should be applied. The door can then be rubbed and polished to a beautiful finish, radiating hospitality.

BASS-HUETER Versatile Spar Varnish is equally satisfactory for all exterior or interior work. Full instructions for using are on every can, and, when followed, insure success.

and show near the place where the overturned canoe rented by the boys was found leads to the possibility that at least one girl, and possibly two, lost their lives at the same time.

The two boys rented a canoe at the Municipal boathouse last night at 8 o'clock. According to E. Smith, boathouse keeper, there was no one with the boys at that time.

When they had not returned at 11 p. m. Smith and E. Van Wright, nightwatchman, made a search of the lake and found the canoe, bottom up, about 150 feet off Adams Point. The Hickman boy's overcoat was still in the canoe.

WALLET REVEALS IDENTITY OF BOYS.

Smith learned the identity of the boys from a wallet that had been left with him by Hickman, and notified the parents.

Dallas Hickman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hickman, 5532 Vicente street. Young Forrester is the son of Mrs. W. Forrester, a widow, living at 5475 Locksley avenue. Hickman's father is away on a hunting trip in Trinity county.

The boys left home early in the evening, saying they were going to a meeting of the Ho Molay council at Hudson street and Claremont avenue. According to members of the lodge, neither of the boys were there last night.

According to Mrs. Hickman her son could not swim, although Forrester was known as a good swimmer.

SHOUTS HEARD ON LAKE AT NIGHT.

The boathouse keeper at the eastern end of the lake stated this morning that although he had heard some boys shouting on the lake at about 11 o'clock last night, he did not believe they were cries for help, and therefore paid no attention to them.

A search of the police records this morning showed that no girls have been reported missing in Oakland, Alameda or Berkeley.

There is a possibility that the boys may have rented the canoe as a child, paddled to the opposite side of the lake, abandoned the canoe and then run away. With this idea in mind, the Oakland police have notified the police of this section of the state to be on the lookout for the boys.

Girl Deputy Nabs Moonshiners in Raid

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

PARSONS, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Miss Gladys Kuhl, a Tucker county deputy sheriff, arrived at the Parsons jail early today and turned over to Sheriff J. B. Close two alleged moonshiners she had captured on a lonely country road at midnight. The girl officer escorted her prisoners in at the point of a pistol, reminding them that they had better be good because "a woman would not have any better sense than to shoot."

Fast Train Plunges Through Bridge

QUITMAN, Ga., Sept. 30.—Running forty minutes late, the fast passenger train on the Savannah-Montgomery Atlantic Coast Line today plunged through a bridge ten miles west of here and the engine completely disappeared beneath the flood waters of Piscola creek.

Although the passenger coaches turned over, no one was seriously injured.

The engine men leaped just in time to save their lives.

Jackie Coogan Visits Premier Mussolini

ROME, Sept. 30.—Jackie Coogan, America's young film star, who is receiving the reception of a potentate, wherever he goes in Europe visited Premier Mussolini today. The Fascist premier was much interested in his little visitor. Jackie carried on with his usual composure.
