Dear Mr. Beranek:

In accordance with your request for information from the files of the Food and Drug Administration, pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, I have enclosed memoranda and establishment inspection reports regarding Bloomfield Silo and its products. You also asked for copies of Milk Inspection Forms for the Interstate Shippers List submitted to our office by the Indiana State Board of Health. We do not maintain files of such documents and I suggest that you request them from the Indiana State Board of Health directly.

As you will note, minor deletions of material have been made in the records furnished to you. In the judgment of the Food and Drug Administration, the information deleted does not fall within the scope of your request, and in any case, is not required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act. If, however, you do desire to review the deleted material, please make an additional request. If the agency should then deny you this information, you would have the right to appeal such denial to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Any letter of denial will tell you how to make this appeal.

There is no charge for the cost of the photocopies provided to you.

Sincerely yours,

Kenneth C. Shelin
Freedom of Information Officer
