Franklin Humphrey Is Suing Silo And Chemical Companies

Franklin Humphrey and Marilyn Humphrey of Columbiana county, who have had to destroy milk from their large herd since the end of February because of contamination in the milk, have sued Michigan Silo Company and The Monsanto Company for damages. The contamination came from a material called Arochlor, made by Monsanto, and used in a paint which the Michigan company put on the inside of the silos. New silos must be built and the loss in milk has been upwards of $180 a day all spring and summer. Since the material is not listed as an insecticide, no federal indemnity may be paid under the law as it stands now. Harry W. Schmuck of Canton is their attorney.

7/22/70

This clipping was taken from a farm journal in Ohio.
I thought it might be of interest to you.

W. T. Black

H. S. Bergen - HBERG ✓
W. R. Richard - WRICH
P. B. Benignus - PBENI
J. E. Maurer/W. R. Eberhardt