This memorandum will confirm the procedure established in a memorandum of December 22, 1978, from G. L. Jessee to P. H. Hobson; namely, that after July 1, 1979, there is to be absolutely no sale by Monsanto of equipment contaminated with PCB. This is the position adopted jointly by the Environmental Policy Staff and the Corporate Law Department.

Recent questions regarding the possible sale of PCB contaminated surplus equipment, i.e., parts of the old WGK PCB incinerator, prompted a review of this guideline. Subsequent discussions with several persons, including Bill Papageorge, Clayton Callis, Dan Bishop and Barney Wander, confirmed my initial reaction that this is still a reasonable guideline in today's climate.

Please transmit this information within your operating unit. In addition, I'll ask Barney Wander to see that this guideline is included in the EPS Health and Environmental Policies Manual.
