- The PCB program is on schedule. The Interdepartmental Task Force on PCB's of the government, composed of FDA, HEW, and other departmental agencies, have essentially endorsed and adopted our program in their now public report on PCB. In fact, as this matter has been reported, we've actually had customers say, "Well the government says that PCB isn't so bad, are you really going out of the business?" Obviously we are going out, but it is somewhat reassuring to us that we are beginning to find ways of communicating and cooperating with the government to this extent. This is a far cry from where we were not too long ago.
