for PROTECTION and BEAUTY

Stucco needs paint as much as Wood

Streaks, cracks, gradual disintegration! Unpainted stucco everywhere shows the need for CONCRETA. Stucco, without paint protection, cannot withstand the ceaseless attack of carbonic acid from the air, heat, cold and lingering dampness.

CONCRETA shields stucco against these destructive forces. It also resists the lime in stucco. Its stone-like texture mellows and beautifies the natural surface. Twelve attractive colors and white. Ask your Fuller Dealer, listed below, for a color card. Write for our special CONCRETA booklet—it's free.

ADVISES HEARERS AGAINST FAILURE

Half in World Due to Picturing Them in Mind, Declares Speaker.

Miss Rosamonde Joyzelle recommended to her congregation in First Congregational church last night that they utilize the power of the still small voice of confidence.

"Do not just talk about your heart's desire," she said, "secure it. Half the failures in the world come because we picture them first in our minds."

"You want money. I want money. Everybody wants money, not to possess but to spend, for children, for education, for culture, for the good things of life."

Miss Joyzelle played a game with the congregation as she called it. She had the whole audience about "I want money" then follow with the gentlest whisper "I can have it." The whisper was the still small voice, she said, speaking more powerfully than all the shouting.

The whole audience, young and old, entered into it as thoroughly enjoying it.

She presented three brief dramas illustrating her lessons.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Miss Joyzelle will give a matinee for women on "The Real Source of Grace and Charm." At 7:30 in the evening she presents a drama, "The Gleaner," portraying eight different characters.

HELD FOR TRIAL UNDER ARMS LAW

Albert Stoerkel, charged with unlawful possession of a firearm, was arraigned yesterday in township court and preliminary examination set for Sept. 27. He was remanded to jail in default of $1000 bail. He will be the first person prosecuted in the local courts under the 1927 law which makes it a felony to possess a firearm after a conviction of crime.

Stoerkel was arrested in Los Angeles for violation of parole, but was relinquished to San Diego courts on the more serious charge.
