By Taking Play on the Road

GRANADA HILLS—Five youngsters who attend a private theatrical school here have "hit the road" around the Valley with their own play in hopes of sparking interest in a charity campaign.

Toying around with the United Cerebral Palsy Association, the youngsters decided to contribute to the charity in their own way.

They organized a show which they call "A Witch's First Birthday," a children's fantasy that has played to large audiences at Valley parks and schools.

Final Performances

They'll present their final double performances at 1 and 4 p.m. Friday at Granada Hills High School.

The play was prepared by the youngsters, who designed and made their own costumes and scenery and did their own backstage work.

The story is a comedy about the attempts of an apprentice witch to find "birthdayland" so she can celebrate a birthday.

All performances are free and the players simply hope that the production will create interest in the charity. Chairman for the fund drive is Jim Watson.

speak briefly at the show, but there are no collections or pledge solicitations.

RACING PROTEST

residents may file a complaint following the meeting.

The small racing cars are driven around the oval track mostly by children on bicycles and Sundays The Valley Kart Club holds races on Sundays.

Noise Complaint

Mrs Westminster said the noise is unbearable on the weekends and that the motor sounds are carried up to three miles in the direction the wind is blowing.

According to the use permit, the contestants mufflers must be used on all vehicles raced on the track. She said mufflers are not being used and this alone, she maintains, is reason for the permit's revocation.

Chairman said the permit does not call for mufflers.

Ed Miller, who operates the track, said some cars do and some don't have mufflers. He says he would like to see all the cars muffled.
