Dear Gordon,

Thank you for your letter of 19th January and I return the sample of latex winding paper containing Blue asbestos.

I appreciate the arguments Tom Warren has put forward but, nevertheless, my view is that we should stick to our position that T&N Companies are not to be involved with products containing Blue fibre. We really can not have it both ways and this particular sample does, in fact, shed quite a lot of fibre.

Recently, we have told the FSA in the US that we will not be associated with any of their publications that recommend the use of Blue fibre packings. There is no question but that Blue fibre is more hazardous than Chrysotile and we should not in any way encourage its use.

Yours sincerely,
