Good morning, Tate,

We've got a great opportunity for the Administrator's State Action Tour in early October.

On the morning of 10/6, the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) along with the Associated General Contractors (AGC) will host a forum at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs, CO, focused on regulatory issues facing the construction industry, including WOTUS. A robust residential and commercial construction industry is essential to a thriving economy and job growth. NAHB appreciates the Administrator's leadership in addressing the concerns of the nation's home builders and developers and his commitment to implement common-sense reforms to protect our water, air and land while simultaneously avoiding undue economic burdens for the nation's small businesses.

The 10/6 event is expected to draw ~300 participants.

I've attached an invitation that Scott Smith (CEO Colorado Association of Home Builders) recently sent to Administrator Pruitt.

Let me know if this sounds of interest. Happy to provide more details.

Safe travels in CO today and on tour next week.

Best,
Owen
