I believe the last 9 months of effort for my group related to Premiere may not be a good base to estimate next year. In general our direct efforts, specifically plant visits should be less. The last year involved significant efforts to establish programs and perform initial assessments in the industrial hygiene and environmental areas.

Based on anticipated needs, I estimate 12 man days of my group's time. This effort includes plant visits for "consulting", auditing, and training needs. I believe four of the 12 days would be related to the new unit.
