EXTERIOR OF HOME NO. 1 ON SPRING CLEANUP LIST

The smoke from thousands of back-yard brush fires officially signal the end of winter for the home owner.

More than the arrival of the first robin or the sight of the first crocus, the repair urge is the annual forerunner of spring. After months of winter inactivity, the average home owner is impatient for the last snow to melt so he can start on the many repairs he has planned.

The exterior of the house usually is the first thing considered when the owner starts planning his spring improvements.

Architectural deficiencies are sometimes overcome by proper color treatment and expert landscaping. Two-color paint combinations may aid in making attractive an otherwise dull exterior. More important even than the value of added beauty is the value of added protection which paint gives to wood, metal, and plaster surfaces.

Careful inspections sometime reveal many small defects which may be repaired inexpensively, often by the home owner himself. Where conditions are found such as loose bricks or siding, loose shingles or flashing, faulty chimneys, or weak porch supports, repairs should be made at once. Repairs of this type are eligible for financing under the Modernization Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Many repairs and improvements on the inside of the house may also be financed under the FHA plan. The inconvenience of an out-of-date bathroom may be overcome. Spotted walls and floors, bright fixtures, gleaming tiles, and modern appliances which good taste dictates today are easily substituted for old fixtures, and under the FHA plan the cost is broken up into easy monthly payments.

The interested home owner will always find things to do which will improve the home. An upstairs porch, closed in, will make an extra bedroom. A room in place of wasted attic space, put in at small expense, will add livability and provide a playroom for growing children. Conversion of the average cellar into a playroom is often a simple matter.

Spring is the ideal time to repair, remodel, or redecorate. Modernizing a home actually is an investment, since it increases not only the convenience but the dollars-and-cents value as well. In making improvements under the FHA modernization credit plan, funds for the work are obtainable from qualified lending institutions.
