

To: Jackson, Ryan[jackson.ryan@epa.gov]
From: The Washington Post
Sent: Fri 10/20/2017 4:02:43 PM
Subject: Checkpoint: Some Afghan troops training in the U.S. feared violence and corruption at home. So they went AWOL.

A military blog by Dan Lamothe

Some Afghan troops training in the U.S. feared violence and corruption at home. So they went AWOL.

The report raises questions on the high costs of the war.

By Alex Horton • Read more »

John Kelly knows what happens when troops are killed. He experienced it firsthand.

The only phone calls that really matter are from a fallen soldier's buddies, Kelly said.

By Mary Hui • Read more »

ADVERTISEMENT

Listen: Soldier's widow shares her call with Trump

"It was a moment of niceness that we needed because we were going through hell," said Natasha De Alencar, whose husband was killed in Afghanistan.

By Thomas Johnson U.S. Soldiers who searched for slain soldier missing in Niger

'I would just ask you not to question the actions of the troops who were caught in the firefight,' Mattis said.

By Dan Lamothe • Read more » ADVERTISEMENT

The private life of Sgt. La David Johnson, the slain soldier ensnared in a Trump controversy

Johnson, a young father of two with another one on the way, was one of four soldiers killed in an ambush in Niger on Oct. 4.

By Kristine Phillips • Read more »

'It looks like we're afraid of foreigners': Army turns away some green-card holders

Critics deride the moves as potentially unlawful, and that they'll turn away prospective troops.

By Alex Horton • Read more »

Recommended for you

Get the Federal Insider newsletter

Federal news and policy update, in your inbox daily.

Sign Up »

Share Checkpoint: Twitter Facebook

Trouble reading? Click here to view in your browser.

You received this email because you signed up for Checkpoint or because it is included in your subscription. For additional free newsletters or to manage your newsletters, click here.

We respect your privacy. If you believe that this email has been sent to you in error or you no longer wish to receive email from The Washington Post, click here. Contact us for help.

©2017 The Washington Post, 1301 K St NW, Washington DC 20071