and then we will be finished.

The first thing I want to read, ladies and gentlemen, in response to request for admission, Owens-Illinois Glass Company admits that they never placed a warning, notice or other statement on its products relating to the health hazards of asbestos.

That is an admission that they have made in this case.

MS. TOSTANOSKI: Your Honor, just so the record is clear at this point, this is the admission that was redacted that I objected to earlier.

THE COURT: Thank you.

MR. IGNATOWSKI: That is correct.

THE COURT: Mr. Smith.

MR. SMITH: Thank you, Your Honor.

A few days ago we were reading an Owens-Corning document in the Vandergucht case, and we ran out of time, and I just wanted to finish this one.

It was a May 7, 1964 document, and I am not going to show it up again on the screen. I just want to read a couple to you.
