water is just talk. Lexington Dam was never built with the idea of furnishing drinking water until it's percolated into the underground."

Meanwhile, at the County level, the controversy is being continued to Oct. 6 before the Planning Commission.

In the interim, Commissioners Jen, for its permit application, and opponents will take over the Lexington overnight and travel
Sept. 21 to gain first-hand acquaintance with the terrain.

HISTORIC LANDMARK — The historic Woodside Store, built by Dr. Robert G. (Doc) Tripp in 1849, still stands at the corner of Tripp and Kings Mountain roads.

* * *

GREEN VIEW — Rolling greens of the Menlo Golf and Country Club stretch to a thickly wooded slope on the south side of Skyline Route 107, the east approach to Woodside.

* * *

SCHROLL MANSION — Still under construction, this magnificent yellow mansion with wood shingle roof is being built off Portola Road in Woodside by Maud Hill Schroll, widow of a steel executive.

ENTERTAINMENT of England, Woodside's approach to the town.
