. Then he was recruited to go work for Ford Motor. His career there was outstanding and now he is ready to one last act. He loves public service and knows how to deal with bureaucracies. His experience would be a major plus for Mr. Cohn's team because he knows how to coordinate across agencies and knows the state and local aspects which DC needs to have political success. At the same time, he would be outstanding at EPA in any number of roles. He is also tough enough to stand up to the critics and explain and defend the needed reforms.
