"Mexicans are crazy about baseball," he said. "You are going to get 5,000 fans, maybe more, from Tijuana, Tecate, Ensenada, Mexicali and other Baja California towns, I think."

HOTEL-MOTEL BOOM

Cover Kinsey, president of San Diego's Hotel-Motel Association, said his industry is ready for an influx of new customers.

"There is no doubt there will be a big increase in business as far as hotels and motels are concerned," he said, "and we're ready for it — we have the facilities right now to handle it."

Both San Diego has 18,000 hotel and motel rooms with another 2,000 under construction.

What major league baseball will mean in terms of national and international promotion of San Diego is beyond calculation, but "tremendous" in the view of Dr. Al Anderson, chairman of the sports committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

"It will put San Diego on every major sports page and on millions of radios and television sets in the country for days to come," said Anderson. "We could never buy that kind of advertising."

AIDS BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Anderson, also chairman of the Future Tenants Committee of the Stadium Authority, said studies conducted by the chamber indicate that a big sports image also enhances a city's chances of getting new industry and big business.

"We found that one of the first things they ask when looking at new locations is, 'What kind of sports do they have? What can our people do in their spare time?'"

Robert Anthony, executive director of the San Diego Downtown Association, said big league baseball will assure continued revitalization of the downtown retail community.
